1. Although radical changes have been made in the law and economic faculties of Zagreb University, most of the other faculties retain their pre-war professors. Tach faculty has its Communist committee. The Communist committee of the technical faculty is composed of the following:

Secretary - Professor (Dr. of Engineering) Niko Malesovic (he reportedly has not earned the diplomas for his titles of engineer doctor and professor).

Committee Nember - Assistant Professor of Engineering Rostrencie.

Committee Tember - Professor Armanda, a former officer of the Royal Navy the new teaches shipbuilding.

Committee Nember - Assistant Professor for Nathematics Bakaric, a female and sister of Ninister Bakaric.

Cormittee Member - Mathematics Professor Seslic.

Committee Hembers - A small group of unnamed students.

2. The University has its NCO (Narodna Studentska (mladina - Students' People's Youth), an organization to which each student must belong. In cooperation with the Military Section, this organization takes vigilant care of the pre-military training of all students, both boys and girls. All students who have not served their military training are subject to pre-military training which is of a theoretical as well as a practical nature. All instructors are officers, belonging either to the Military Sector or the Carrison's commands and units. Training is performed by the various faculties as follows:

Machinist technicians are trained for tank units;

Electrical techn dans for liaison service;

Chemistry technicians for protection against chemical warfare;

Architectural technicians for artillery service;

Veterinarians and medical students for sanitary units, and the remainder for infantry and administrative services.

Students who have already completed their military service are called on for bi-monthly training and they also take part in the so-called "partisan marches." Students do their best to avoid the pre-military training but because of very strict control are obliged to attend.
